

An alliance of leaders.

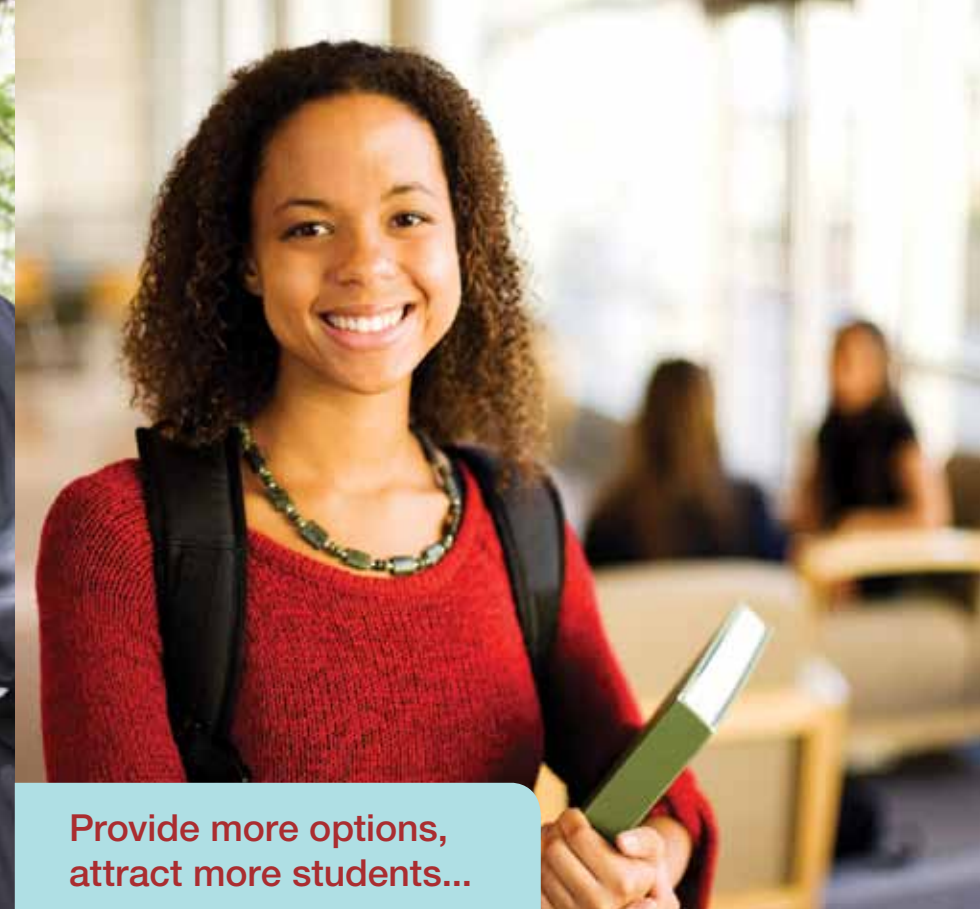

UExcel® is a credit-by-examination program created by two leading education providers, Excelsior College and Pearson.

Since 1971, Excelsior College has helped more than 130,000 students earn college degrees at a distance. Its multiple credit-bearing options include Excelsior College® Examinations: more than 50 ACE-recognized tests, available to students worldwide, in subjects as varied as nursing, bioethics, and social psychology.

Pearson is an $8 billion international company whose businesses include Pearson Education, the Financial Times Group, and the Penguin Group. Educating 100 million people worldwide, Pearson is the world's leading testing company and educational publisher, providing quality content, assessment tools, and educational services.

Turn knowledge into credit.

Can I receive credit for what I know?

The question comes up all the time. If the answer is no, a top student may go elsewhere—which makes it essential to award credit for the broadest range of prior learning assessment options.

That includes UExcel® examinations. An alliance between two global leaders in distance learning and education, UExcel offers a rigorous, supported way to let students demonstrate their competency in popular lower-level subjects—so you can grant them the credit they deserve.

When you grant them credit, you meet their needs. When you meet their needs, you serve them better...and boost your enrollment.

Convenient. Computerized. Creditworthy.

- ✦ The American Council on Education's College Credit Recommendation Service (ACE CREDIT) has evaluated and made college credit recommendations for UExcel examinations.
- ✦ With test centers around the world, most students can take UExcel examinations at a time and location convenient for them.
- ✦ The computerized format streamlines the testing process, enabling students to review their answers, go back to questions they skipped, and move ahead at will.
- ✦ UExcel examinations test for college-level knowledge in a range of disciplines, from calculus and psychology to writing and statistics.
- ✦ By passing UExcel exams, students receive credit from Excelsior College, a regionally accredited institution, on official Excelsior College transcripts.
- ✦ UExcel is ideal for homeschooled and international students wishing to demonstrate their academic competency at the university level.

Attract the best and brightest.

Your institution can take advantage of UExcel examinations in several ways. Use them to grant transfer credit, waive lower-level courses, or fulfill admission requirements for incoming, first-year students.

Your acceptance of UExcel credit makes your institution more attractive to the students who take the exams—often the top students in their class.
